GPS is great, but they are not always correct. They do not forecast weather or traffic problems. Instead, use the help of truckers. They travel for a living and generally do know what's going on.

Buy a handheld CB and magnetic antenna. It is helpful in traffic jams, bad weather, and it's entertaining. CB stands for Citizens Band, it is a communication radio device. You may have seen them in TV and movies, such as Smokey and The Bandit.

You can listen to the truckers or make your own handle (name) and talk with them. If you see all the trucks getting in the left lane, there is a reason.

I bought one at Radio Shack. The entire set-up cost under $100 and it's simple to use. It included the CB and all accessories. 10-4!
